Orchestra Plans For Last Concert

At 8:15 next Friday evening, May 22, the curtain of the Memorial Auditorium of Punchard High School will open on the last of the three concerts given this season by the Andover Community Orchestra. In several ways this promises to be the most interesting of the orchestra's appearances, especially in view of the sustained enthusiasm on the part of the personnel for their work under the baton of Conductor George Brown.

Far from dwindling in numbers under the stringencies of rubber shortage and the threat of gas rationing, the orchestra has added a number of accomplished players to its roster, while almost without exception the veterans have appeared at their desks for rehearsal. As the season has gone on, the orchestra has attained a unity of effect and a responsiveness to the baton far in advance of anything achieved heretofore, which should make the final concert by far its most finished performance.

Another drawing card should be the appearance of Miss Kate Friskin as assisting soloist. A former pupil of Sir Donald Tovey in London, and often heard in recitals in London, New York and Boston, she is too well known to Andover music-lovers both as a concert pianist and, since 1922, as head of the music department of Abbot Academy, to require further introduction. With the orchestra she will play Mozart's Concerto for Piano in A major, K 414, as well as a trio of solos.

The program itself is admirably suited to an Andover audience. Starting with a well-known Bach prelude consisting of Chorale and Fugue, arranged for orchestra by

Lincoln Spelling Matches Tomorrow

The annual Lincoln spelling matches for students in the public schools will be held tomorrow night in the Memorial Auditorium. Prizes from the Alfred Lincoln fund, of $3.75 and $2.50, will be awarded the winners in each grammar grade, and the final prizes, from the Varum Lincoln fund, amount to $10, $6, and $4.

School Committee Chairman Frederick C. Smith will be chairman at the contest, Horace M. Poynter will give out the words, and Frederick W. H. Stott will be umpire.

Those taking part in the contest will be:

GRADE 5: Jean Auchterlonie, Joyce Demers, Delos Penwell, Ruth Anne Chadwick, David Anderson, Anne Whipple, Pauline Mower, Warren Davis, Alfred Potkin, Robert Gagne, Maurice Shea, Kenneth Tomlinson, Anne Kenney, Betty Jane O'Connor, Joan Lefebvre, Harry Seward, Dorothy Christie, Judith Napier, Patricia Black and Betty Edge.

40 Percent Ask For B-3 Cards

Total Gas Registration 2387 On First Two Days; 251 "X" Cards Issued At The Local Schools

Officials Satisfied With Defense Test

The Andover Savings bank and one of the Phillips fraternity houses were "bombed" in an air-raid rehearsal Monday evening, later judged by the out-of-town officials conducting the test to be very satisfactory. Bombs also fell near the railroad station, and cars and trucks were sent to all three scenes to represent the action that would be taken by the various civilian defense groups in the event that the bombing raid were real.

The test lasted from 7:00 to 7:50, and five incidents were given the wardens on duty by the visiting referees. They expressed themselves as quite satisfied with the quickness with which the wardens responded to their signals, and with

B-3 cards, for persons who must drive their cars 25 miles or more per day in carrying on their work, have been issued to 966 local drivers, about 40 percent of the total registration, according to figures released this morning by Superintendent of Schools Edward I. Erickson. The controversial X gasoline rationing cards, which have invoked the threat of a thorough investigation in Boston, have been issued to only 251 of the 2387 registrants.

Of the other types of cards issued, 275 have been of the B-2 type, 242 in B-1, and 653 in A.

In view of the fact that Andover is primarily a residential town, and that an unusually large number of people commute to work, figures for Andover are a good deal more reasonable than they appear in Greater Boston. Registration for A cards is a bit lower, and for B-3's somewhat higher than had been previously estimated.

Gasoline registration has taken place for the past two days under the supervision of the elementary school teachers in the Stowe and will be open again today from 2 to 8 o'clock, and today is the last registration day. Persons whose last names begin with the letters S

Andover Put In The Spotlight

Phillips To Receive Four Color Pages In "Life"

It won't be the first time a photographer from the magazine Life has taken pictures of Phillips Academy, but it will be the first time a feature has actually appeared in that magazine showing Andover scenes.

A photographer from the magazine took several shots of the campus and students last week, and it was later announced that a series selected from them will appear in Life's June 15 issue. Four pages in full color will be included in the treatment, as well as the ordinary black-and-white views.

Generally speaking, the photographic essay will attempt to portray the various artistic values of the Academy, and its art collections, murals and Georgian architecture will be stressed. Several of the paintings in the Addison Gallery will be reproduced, as well as the large murals in the Holmes library and the school Commons, and the Indian map in the Archaeology building. It is interesting to note that the issue will be published as close as possible to the Phillips Commencement week.

Several outdoor shots of the landscaping at the school have been included, including that at the playing fields, the lawn in front of Samuel Phillips Hall and the Chapel. Several Academy students appear in some of the pictures, and one was taken at the school dining-hall during the lunch period.

Stock Company May Put On Summer Plays Here

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, and tire, gas and automobile shortages may afford Andover residents an opportunity, this summer, to see, right here in Andover, such plays as "Anything Goes," "Pal Joey," and "My Sister Eileen." The Guy Palmerton Players, a summer stock company which has been producing well-known Broadway hits at Wayland Park, near Fitchburg, is at present considering the formation of a touring company for weekly productions in Andover, Methuen and Lawrence.

Well-known movie and stage stars, including Nancy Carroll, Michael Whalen, Conrad Nagel and Elissa Landi, would probably appear in specially chosen vehicles here, and comedies, musical comedies, and serious plays would be in the repertoire.

Since the plays would be most suitably presented in the Memorial Auditorium, approval of its use must be secured from the school committee, which is to consider the matter further at its next meeting. Members of the committee have pointed out that rental fees for such use must be paid to the town treasurer in the event that permission to stage the plays is granted, and that rules regarding smoking and the use of liquor around the premises would have to be strictly observed. The programs would also

Local Man Missing In Philippine Area

First Class Radioman George T. Burridge, U. S. Navy, a native of Andover and Punchard student with the class of 1938, is missing in action in the Manila Bay area, according to word received from the Navy Department Sunday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Burridge of Bancroft road. It will not be known for several months whether he is killed, injured, or a prisoner of the Japanese.

The Burridges had heard from their son only the day before, in his second letter to Andover since the outbreak of the war. The letter was written at Fort Mills, Corregidor, where he has been stationed since last June.

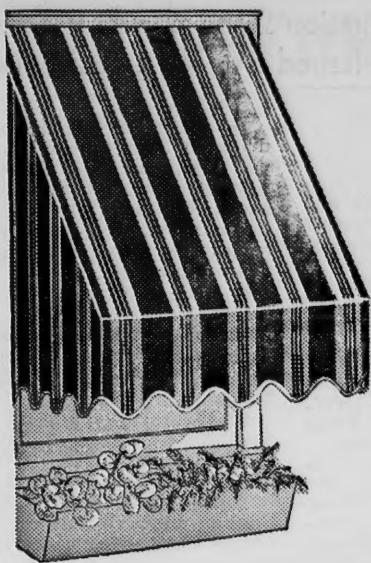

Burridge has been with the U. S. Navy for the past eight years, and has spent most of that period in the Philippines, but was sent to Corregidor on detached naval service when evacuation of civilians from the area was begun.

Besides his parents, Burridge has two sisters, Miss Phyllis Burridge of Andover, and Mrs. Bert Stone of Coffeyville, Kan.

Charter Presented Guidance Group In Impressive Ceremony Monday

Post-War Problems Discussed By Educators
As Association Observes First Anniversary

President John A. Brodhead of the Merrimack Valley Guidance Association, left, receives the club charter from Dr. Clarence W. Failor, executive secretary of the national organization. What's all that in back—oh, a mural at the Andover Inn.

In a ceremony marking the first anniversary of the Merrimack Valley Guidance Association, and its full incorporation as a member agency in the national organization, a charter was presented Monday night to President John A. Brodhead of High street by Dr. Clarence W. Failor, executive secretary of the National Vocational Guidance Association in New York, and managing editor of the magazine Occupations. About 100 charter members of the local group were present at the dinner at which the presentation was made.

Mr. Brodhead was re-elected association president at the meeting, and other officers will include Edward C. Manning of Punchard High School, vice-president; Mrs. Cora M. Barry of Newburyport High School, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Ruby Nason of Lawrence High School, corresponding and recording secretary. Herbert P. Carter of Lowell street, vocational counsellor at Mechanic Arts School, Boston, was chairman of the nominating committee.

Reports on the year's activities were given by Mr. Brodhead; Mr. Manning, chairman of the program committee; Miss Mariam Putnam, town librarian, head of the occupation and information committee; Mrs. Emma G. Carter, Punchard instructor, chairman of entertainment; Frank Gaines of Marblehead, membership chairman; and Mrs. Barry.

WAR ACCENTUATES PROGRAM

Both speakers of the evening, Dr. Failor and Dr. Warren C. Seyfert, instructor in education at Harvard and member of a special state commission, surveying youth problems, emphasized that the program of placing students in their proper line of work is accentuated by the booming war effort, and pointed out that post-war problems of youth must be faced now.

"We are engaged in a total war," said Dr. Seyfert, "to which most social agencies have been converted.

Guidance groups are doing a fine job in this field. However, though it is the spirit of the times for all agencies to feel that they must relate their services to war, some services should not be revised. They have been developed through years of peace, and they can do a great deal for wartime production by only continuing 'business as usual.'"

Not that minor changes will not be made in wartime, he emphasized, but that the pattern of peacetime service must be preserved in any war contribution. The reasons outlined by him for such a policy were: first, the hazards of helping young people to grow up are much greater in war than in peace; second, there is a far greater need to take the burden off parents' shoulders now than there was in peacetime, when they had more time to devote to their children; third, the spirit of young people is essential to civilian morale, and they must be made to feel that older people are willing to help them find their place in life.

Enlarge Recreation Programs

To this end, he said, there are several areas of service which guidance counsellors can enlarge. Recreational services must be broadened to shelter both children and adolescents from the "starker horrors of war." Possible means to do this, he said, are furnished by an enlarged resident or day summer camping program; afternoon recreational centers, especially in cities; work camps for high-school pupils, to alleviate the grave farm labor shortage; and short vacation programs for people from 16 to 22 who are not in school.

These are not new problems or methods, he said, but the presence of war makes them larger. Civilian defense workers, he emphasized, so thoroughly organized throughout the country but now in comparative idleness, might turn their energies to assisting this badly-needed pro-

Martin, Poynter Get Degrees

HORACE M. POYNTER, JR.

Fully one month ahead of original schedule over 360 University of New Hampshire seniors received their degrees Sunday, as the first graduating class of the second World War concluded a speeded-up college year.

Among the candidates for degrees were two Andover boys, Charles H. Martin of 111 Main street and Horace M. Poynter, Jr., of 6 School street.

Martin, a student in the College of Liberal Arts, received his Bachelor of Science degree in economics. A member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity, Martin was active in the Christian Work organization, the Outing Club, and was on the staff of the New Hampshire, undergraduate bi-weekly. He was enrolled in the advanced military art course and was a member of the rifle team.

Poynter, who studied mechanical engineering in the College of Technology, received his Bachelor of Science degree. He was a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Flying Club.

Abbot Academy Notes

Miss Hearsey, Miss Hancock and Miss Rath are attending the Centennial celebration of Hollins College, Virginia, of which they are all graduates, from May 17 to 19. Miss Hearsey will be one of the principal speakers.

This will be the "free week-end" of the Abbot spring term, and most of the students will be away.

The Abbot Christian association will be in charge of the vesper service on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

In spite of the cold and threatening weather last Saturday, the Abbot Birthday and Bazaar were a decided success. Between four and five hundred people attended, and all seemed to enjoy themselves until curfew sounded at 6:15. The final results, which promise to be gratifying, will be announced next week.

which the various types of apparatus arrived after notification from the report center.

All telephone reports and written summaries of the departmental activities will be examined by the staff at the controller's office in Lawrence this week-end, and the local officials concerned will later be advised as to their completeness and accuracy.

Guidance

gram. Older young people could be appointed to assist them in some way, and get valuable training in leadership, though always under the guidance of professional counsellors.

At the same time, he said, health services must be forwarded, and industrial safeguards, built up through the years of peacetime, must be preserved through the exigencies of war. Work and service experience for young people must also be provided; the fact that there are more jobs now than formerly, far from making guidance unnecessary, make it more imperative than ever that a war position be held by a suitable person.

"Above all," he concluded, "We must do what we can, in our schools, to stimulate young people in their search for a realistic theory of values—a philosophy of life. I do not advocate religious training in our schools by any means, but a more virile attack on this pressing problem of moral education is certainly needed."

Dr. Clarence W. Failor, the next speaker, emphasized the need for vocational guidance workers to "get down to earth, and declare a moratorium on debates and fruitless discussions." Statistics prove, he said, that 79 percent of the problems of students center about placement and vocational matters. He advocated the establishment of community-wide central agencies in order that there may be no duplication of effort by different groups, and an active consideration now of the post-war placement problems that will inevitably arise.

THE MAN POWER PROBLEM

"In a total war," he added, "every available source of manpower must be tapped." Both selective and recruiting services, he said, are taking adequate care of the manpower needs of our armed forces; what is more important is that civilian agencies see that the requirements of war industry are filled. Under the new War Manpower Commission, headed by Paul V. McNutt, perhaps eight million people will be diverted from peacetime occupations."

In this context, he offered a four-point program: (1) training for war industry, (2) offering facilities for educating people with less than a fourth grade education, (3) educating boys for leadership, and (4) co-operating with recruiting and employment offices.

Another need, he continued, is to keep individual dislocations down, and to prepare boys who are to enter the service in a short time so that, when the war is over, they will have obtained training valuable to their future careers. "We must help students to form a balance between their own needs and those of society; between immediate service and 'the long view.'"

"Keep the top third of the students in school," he concluded, "This country will always need a constant supply of trained men and women. In every high-school graduating class, there should be four prospective engineers, two nurses, four physicians, and other specialized workers in proportion. Remember that the Nazis reject vocational guidance entirely, as tending to the welfare of the individual; perhaps there is no more democratic program."

WEDDINGS

Towne-Downs

At a pretty candlelight ceremony at the bride's home Thursday evening, Miss Gladys Louise Downs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Downs of South Main street, became the bride of Henry Harmon Towne, son of Mrs. Melina Towne of Cogswell road, North Reading. Rev. Leonard E. Sweet, pastor of the North Reading Baptist Church, officiated, and the double ring service was used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length princess gown of white moire satin and a finger-tip veil with a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. Miss Vera Crossley was maid of honor, wearing a gown of celanese taffeta with a dubonnet bodice and white skirt. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white sweet peas.

The bride's mother wore a rose print dress with a corsage of pink roses and sweet peas. Miss Ruth Crossley played the wedding marches, and Arthur Towne was best man for his brother.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Towne will reside on South Main street.

Ormsby-Robinson

Miss Dorothy Robinson and Ernest Ormsby of Everett were united in marriage Saturday afternoon by Rev. David Segerstrom at the parsonage. After the wedding, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Means of Oak street.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Paul W. Pomeroy, Foster's Pond, and Jean I. Frizzell, 20 Jamaica way, Boston.

Ernest Peterson, Westford, Mass., and Mildred F. Lydon, South Main street.

Lauren F. Dearborn, 109 Elm street, and Georgeanna Reed, Buxton court.

Benjamin F. Miller, 99 Spruce street, Lawrence, and Marie Rita Cardiff, Rattlesnake Hill road.

Civilian Defense Units May Parade June 14

A proposal was recently made that Flag Day, Sunday, June 14, be observed in Andover in a patriotic manner. The President has requested that more patriotic parades and gatherings be held throughout the country, to emphasize the necessity for an all-out war effort.

Andover has not as yet seen its civilian defense workers as a group, and a suggestion has been made that these and other local patriotic organizations combine to hold a parade and community mass meeting on Flag Day.

Representatives of the several organizations in town have been invited to meet at the rooms of the American Legion Tuesday evening at 7:30, to discuss the matter and to form a community committee to carry out this suggestion.

APPOINTED CONSULTANT

The Federal Public Housing Authority at Washington has appointed Dana W. Clark, local civil engineer, to the position of consultant, and inspector of grading and utilities plans for housing projects in the New England area. He will have an office at 24 School street, Boston.

Mrs. Roy Bradford, Mrs. David May and Mrs. Herman C. Johnson, box work; and Mrs. Elizabeth Perry, book club.

Win 4-H Honors

Several Andover girls and their leaders won honors in the annual 4-H Girls' day Saturday at the Essex County Agricultural School, at which 200 members were present.
Contests in judging foods, menus, and samples of sewing by the girls were included in the morning program.

Receiving blue ribbons in clothing were Glenna Draper and Dorothy Abbott of Andover. Lillian Lovely of Summer street took third prize in the judging contests. Miss Florence Gates, supervisor of the public schools cafeteria, served as one of the judges in the clothing and home furnishings contest.

Show West Point Movies

Technicolor movies on West Point will be shown at a monthly dinner meeting of the Joseph Frye chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, at the Andover Inn
Wednesday at 6:30.

Reports of the committees appointed to investigate the graves of Revolutionary soldiers, and to ascertain if they have been properly marked, will be made.

Mrs. Herbert McQuesten, Mrs.
Paul Huick, Mrs. Lot Quealy and Miss Evelyn Platt, leaders of the D. A. R. in Greater Lawrence, will be guests at the meeting.

To Hold Rummage Sale

Members of the Women's Union of the West church will hold a rummage sale next Thursday and Friday at 366 Common street, Lawrence.
Persons having anything to donate for the sale are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Carl Stevens of High Plain road, telephone 366-W, or to leave the material either at her home or at the store.

A. O. H. MEETS TONIGHT

Division 6, Ancient Order of Hibernians, will hold their regular monthly meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Knights of Columbus hall.

ANDOVER SERVICE CLUB

Dr. Claude M. Fuess, Headmaster of Phillips Academy, will be the principal speaker at the regular bi-weekly dinner of the Andover Service Club at 6:15 this evening.
A large number of the members enjoyed an afternoon of golf today at the Country Club.

MRS. BUCHAN PRESIDENT

The Helping Hand Society of the Free Church, at a recent meeting, elected the following officers for the 1942-43 season: Mrs. Carrie Buchan, president; Mrs. Lillie Harris, vice-president; Mrs. George Nicol, secretary; and Mrs. Alexander MacKenzie, treasurer.

ELECTED CLASS PRESIDENT

Miss Dorothy Christie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Christie, 18 Pasho street, Andover, has been elected president of the class of 1944 at Simmons College. The announcement was made at the annual Student Government May party held at the college. Miss Christie, a sophomore in the school of library science at Simmons, has been secretary of her class, student government representative, and a member of the glee club.

WILL ATTEND GET-TOGETHER

All members of the Andover Choral society are invited to attend a get-together Tuesday evening as guests of the Male Choir in their Musgrove building rooms.

Garden Club Elects

This seems to be a year of reelection among the local clubs, and the Andover Garden club, at a recent meeting, heartily endorsed this year's program under Mrs. Miles S.
Malone of Main street by re-electing her as president. Other officers elected were Mrs. Harry D. Learn-ard, vice-president; Mrs. Frederick Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs.
George F. Sawyer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nathaniel Stowers, treasurer; Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith and Mrs. Herbert Farnsworth, directors; Mrs. Albert J.
Moore, program chairman; Mrs.
Ernest S. Young, reception committee chairman; and Mrs. Wallace E.
Brimer, publicity chairman.

TOMORROW—Gay Nineties Reproduced At West Church

Whether the gentlemen will be equipped with moustaches and derbys, of course, we can't say, but old-time songs and the old-time flavor of living will be faithfully reproduced tomorrow evening in the vestry of the West Church, when a "Gay Nineties Revue" will be presented at 8:00 under the sponsorship of the Men's Brotherhood. George Alfred Lowe, church director of music, is directing the show, and he is assisted by a large chorus composed of members of the West Church choir, church and parish. Several guest musicians will also be featured, and there will be ample opportunity for the audience to join in singing old-time songs.

Tickets may be purchased from any Men's Brotherhood member.

TOMORROW—Archibald MacLeish Lectures Here

A well-known American literary figure has already lectured here this week in the person of William Lyon Phelps, and one equally famous, Archibald MacLeish, speaks tomorrow evening at 8:30 in George Washington Hall on the subject, "Discovery of This Time."

Mr. MacLeish has been Librarian of Congress since 1939, director of the Office of Facts and Figures in Washington for the past year. In the latter post, he had an important share in building up cordial Pan-American relations.

Just about a year ago, one of his speeches precipitated one of the many controversies in which he has been involved. Speaking on May 23, 1941, before the Adult Education Association, he condemned the pacifist attitude in the younger generation in America and its lack of belief in the "final things for which democracy will fight." He affirmed, at that time, that American youth did not feel strongly enough that Facism is an evil, and that a free society is worth fighting for. His theory that young Americans had been weakened by the "lost generation" writings of the '20's was widely discussed. His appointment as Librarian of Congress was also opposed on the grounds that he had long been a fellow-traveler of Communism. He had done a great deal of speaking in this country in behalf of the Communist cause during the Spanish civil war. He has, however, done much to improve the Library of Congress since assuming his present post, and, as director of the O. F. F., is rated as one of the key figures in Washington.

One of the country's better-known poets, he won the Pulitzer prize in 1932 for his long narrative poem, "Conquistador," and has published 15 books of verse. He was one of the first American writers to consider continuities for radio plays as a serious literary art. He spends much time at his farm in Conway.

A short business meeting, including the election of officers, will be held at 7:45. Interested local parents are invited to attend the lecture portion of the program.

MAY 21—Card Party For St. Augustine's

Chance prizes, door prizes, table prizes—all should help make the annual May card party of St. Augustine's Church one of the prize, or prized, events of the year. A large committee is now making preparations for the party, which will be held at the Andover Country Club next Thursday evening, play beginning at 8:00.

The Andover Male Choir, as in previous years, will sing several numbers during the evening, and refreshments will be served.

CURRENT—Watercolors Shown At Addison Gallery

The Addison Gallery is now exhibiting a group of watercolors by the Boston artist, Charles Hopkinson. This is one in a series of exhibitions which the Gallery has held from time to time in order to give Andover residents an opportunity of seeing work by contemporary New England artists who have already attained distinction in their profession.

Mr. Hopkinson is well known all over the country for his oil portraits of distinguished Americans. Much of his leisure time is spent at his home in Manchester, and it is here that he has pursued his hobby and painted a large number of the watercolors in the present exhibition. The rocks and sea before his home appear to have a continual fascination for him, with their ever changing color and light, and

THIS MONTH—Musicales Held At Cochran Chapel

A series of May musical evenings is being held all this month at the Cochran Chapel. Saturday evening at 7:00, the combined music clubs of Beaver Country Day School and Phillips Academy will give a joint concert, for which admission of 25 cents will be charged.

On May 27 at 8:00, an organ reof the Phillips music department, with no admission charge. On three Sunday evenings, starting this week, from 7 to 8 o'clock, Richard Ames of the Phillips Senior class will play the Chorale Preludes of the complete Orgelbuchlein of Bach.

It will mark the first time that a

Breakfast A Success

About 250 mothers and daughters of St. Augustine's parish attended a communion breakfast held after the 8:30 o'clock mass Sunday, in the parochial school hall.

Miss Gertrude Curry, state treasurer of the Catholic Daughters of America, delivered an interesting address on "Women's Place in the World," touching briefly on the various activities connected with the war effort of interest to women.

Remarks were offered by Rev.
Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., and Rev.
Matthew F. McDonald, O.S.A., of St.
Augustine's Church, and musical selections were given by a violin choir under the direction of Joseph Pulvino of Lawrence, and by the two Johnson brothers.

Bouquets were presented to Mrs.
Michael A. Burke of 383 North Main street, as the honored mother at the breakfast, Miss Margaret Sullivan making the presentation. Mrs.
William Coupe presented a bouquet to Miss Eleanor G. Ralby of Summer street, president of the Blessed Virgin Sodality, as the typical daughter of the parish.

Thank You, Neighbors

As we complete our eighth year in business in Andover and we poise ourselves for a momentous ninth year, we would pause to express to you our appreciation for your patronage and your confidence in our store.

- It has been a pleasure for us doing business with you this past year.
- You have made it possible for us to make available to Andover a jewelry store which may well be regarded a credit to any community.
- In the face of priorities and restrictions to our industry, we are nevertheless in an excellent position to render the same excellent, efficient service for which we have become widely known.
- Our stock is the most complete in our line that has ever been housed in Andover.
- Our repair department, having been trained in the Old School, is qualified and prepared to make those parts necessary for your work, which are no longer available.
- Our policy from which we have never swerved, is to be exactly and accurately truthful in representing every article we offer—plus a positive guarantee of entire satisfaction.
- Thus we hope to deserve your continued patronage and good will.

Even If You Got It, Don't Waste It

Did you get a "B-3" or an "X"? Pretty lucky, aren't you, because the "B-3" should give you about eight gallons a week, and the "X" will give you all the gas you ask for.

But it's not a license for you to use your gasoline doing anything you want with it. You're being allowed that amount of gasoline because you convinced the registrar that you needed it—the word is "needed." If you don't need it, don't use it. If you received an "X" rating because of your professional, business or defense activity, you have the duty to use your gasoline mainly for those purposes. It does not give you the right to burn up the highways on pleasure-bent.

A few, pitifully few, patriotic citizens went to the registrars and told them that they didn't need their cars except for pleasure. They will get three gallons a week, enough to travel 45 to 60 miles. If any of you who received a "B-3" or an "X" use your gasoline to drive more than 45 to 60 miles per week on pleasure, you're guilty of a crime, for that gasoline is being brought up here by men who are risking their lives out on the U-boat infested Atlantic. Pleasure comes at a high cost under today's conditions.

And you have to be pretty strict about the word "necessary" too. If you can find any substitute way of getting where you want to go, you certainly should use that. Maybe it'll be a little annoyance—but it's more than "annoyance" out on the Atlantic. Don't even use your three gallons if you don't have to.

There have been things about this war that have gotten under our skins. The story for instance out of the Malay peninsula that the large property-owners had refused to co-operate in scorching the earth because it would injure their property, fills us with nothing but scorn for that type of self-centered person, and a feeling perhaps that some of the vested interests should be divested. And yet—a lot of us up here in New England are planning to tackle the rationing board to see if we can't get more gasoline than the registrar allowed, and when we consider what's going on in the rest of the world, even some of the mileage that we now consider an absolute necessity becomes a luxury.

Boondoggling Again?

A recent announcement from the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety to the effect that a "mounted civilian defense unit" under Gen. Daniel Needham has recently been formed, will probably cause great doubt in many minds as to the efficiency of the state organization that, theoretically at least, is to supervise the protection of our own homes in a war emergency.

According to the statement, "duties of the volunteer organization will include forest fire patrol and fighting; blackout patrol; emergency courier service; guide service to refugees or evacuees; first aid; guard duties around defense plants, reservoirs, water towers, and in case of parachute landings... Wherever possible, members of the mounted force will have a pack horse carrying two 5-gallon saddle-back fire extinguishers, one shovel, two axes, one pair of wire clippers, and a first aid kit."

Andover residents remembering the fan-dancers and movie stars who were once called upon to assist in the national program for civilian defense, may well wonder if the state organization is not being managed in a similarly visionary and impractical manner. They will undoubtedly recognize that such preposterous antics as the formation of a squad of Texas Rangers by the state committee on public safety will ultimately cause the public to lose all confidence in it.

Yours To Co-operate

The local drugstores are paving the way toward a more sound victory economy by closing earlier nights, in line with recommendations from the Pharmacy associations in an endeavor to save power, etc. It's going to be something else you late-livers are going to have to get used to, but it won't hurt you any to get your ice cream soda before ten instead of just before eleven. You might even sleep better. And it's about time the drug-gists received a break anyway; they shouldn't have to stay up all hours to mix you a nickel raspberry and lime. They deserve your co-operation and your whole-hearted support.

Loam To Loan?

Have you a little bit of land that could be producing some vegetables if you had the time to work on it? Wouldn't you just as soon be seeing radishes, and lettuce and other vegetables sprouting from it?

You don't have the time? Well, some people who have no land, who live in apartments for instance, do have time, and would like very much to plant a garden. Why not let them have a hand at making your land produce? We know some of them, and if you would let us know a few of you, maybe we can get you all together. Land shouldn't lie idle these days, you know.

H. M. S. Pinafore

"Why don't they do this more often?" Through the minds of many an individual last Friday night that thought ran. Abbot and Phillips academics had gotten together under the joint expert direction of Dr. Pfatteicher and Walter Howe to produce "H. M. S. Pinafore."

Andover residents could well be proud of the performance, mostly because it was its two local academics that had produced it with such excellence, and if any extra cause for pride were necessary, because one of the main reasons for the success was the singing, acting and charm of Andover's Alva Houston.

Next year, and all the next years that we hope Abbot and Phillips present such a performance, be sure to go. You'll be far from sorry.

This Sober Town

A wholly apocryphal poem is extant in Andover relative to an alleged telephone call made by Hitler to Old Scratch. One verse goes something like this:

"The Devil answered—'Howdy.' And Hitler—'How are you? I'm running Hades here on earth, so tell me what to do.' 'What can I do?' the Devil said, 'Dear old pal of mine, It seems you don't need any help, you're doing mighty fine.'"

At least, the verses seem to intimate that Hitler and Mr. Scratch are two different individuals—a fact we had long been led to disbelieve.

Undue alarm was caused among the townspeople by our printing an item last week to the effect that "Andover Post 8, American Legion, will meet tonight to consider plans for Memorial Day. All members of the post firing squad are asked to report."

Suffice it to say that the Memorial Day committee is still in perfect harmony with the firing squad, that no executions have taken place, and that the committee will continue to deliberate without fear or favor.

"Dehydrated apple nuggets, which look like pop corn and may be eaten 'straight' or converted into apple sauce or pie filling, will be the newest item on Army menus," according to a recent announcement. Another says that "soups so good that the soldier is unaware that the Lima beans in the puree had graced the supper table the night before, are now being served." "Fall in for shoe inspection!" That's the newest military formation to which American soldiers will be summoned by the shrill blast of the top sergeant's whistle.

Such little items of Fanny Farmishness lead us to believe that this man's army no longer enjoys the primitive housewifery of the ripe old days of Captain Jinks. In fact, some day in the not too distant future, we may be called on to review such books as "Helpful Hints on Happy Homes," by Lieut. Col. J. B. Battledore, or "One Hundred Uses for Left-Over Pie Crust," by Maj-Gen. I. B. Bacon.

We point-with-pride dept.: Fifteen Massachusetts cows have made remarkably fine records during the past year or so, according to figures released by the American Guernsey Cattle Club in Peterborough, N. H. Among them are such boastable bovines as Meredith Valeria of Topsfield, and her brother, Meredith Senator; Wethersfield Venessa of Danvers, Appleblossom of North Andover, and Argilla Plentiful of Ipswich.

So you can add this one to the familiar question of who names Pullman cars: who names champion cows?

We suppose they wouldn't have the grace to speak to such lowly beasts as our own Buttercup, the most democratic of animals.

With the state of the nation as it is, we respectfully suggest turning it over to the Guernseys, rather than the Indians.

There's a moral to this pastoral story: The Guernseys plan to go right ahead, getting better and better as the years go along—but right in their own pastures. If they were as human as some races we could mention, they'd strut about and say "Ach, we are a superior race. It is our geopolitik destiny to inherit the earth. Let us go out to conquer the lowly Jerseys and Herefords, that they may be our vassals for centuries to come!"

Hundreds Of Typists Needed In Washington

Local girls willing to work under civil service as stenographers and typists in Washington are urged to get in touch with the civil service secretary at the local postoffice.
Hundreds of such workers are needed by the War and Navy departments, the Office of Emergency Management, maritime commission and the War Production Board.
Salaries being at $1440 per year.

Lurid newspaper accounts of housing conditions in Washington have kept girls from filling those positions. As a matter of fact, on March 10 of this year, the Defense Housing Registry listed more than 3000 houses with available rooms in Washington, and 2000 rooms are available in nearby communities.

Average room rents in Washington range from $25 to $35 per month for single rooms, $20 to $30 for double ones. Rooms with board are from $45 to $55 per month.

There are several agencies in Washington that maintain offices to assist newcomers in locating rooms. Meals are reasonably priced in local restaurants, and many government buildings have cafeterias serving excellent lunches for 30 to 35 cents.

Civil service secretaries in first and second-class postoffices throughout New England give examinations daily for typists and stenographers.
Girls passing the test will be earning $120 per month within a short time, and will also help our country win this war.

C. D. A. Elects Officers

Officers of Court St. Monica, Catholic Daughters of America, recently elected the following officers: Miss Anna M. Greeley, grand regent; Mrs. James Coleman, vice-regent; Mrs. Alfred Brennan, prophetess; Mrs. Thomas Morrissey, lecturer; Mrs. Lillian McDonald, treasurer; Mrs. Timothy Mahoney, financial secretary; Mrs.

Entertainment Monday

The annual May entertainment by the pupils of St. Augustine's school will be held Monday evening at 8:15 in the Memorial Auditorium under the direction of Miss Helen G. Murray. A children's performance is to be held on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Smith
(the former Miss Irene Cole of 115 Elm street) have returned from their honeymoon trip to Maine and Connecticut.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton White of Whitman were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton H. Northey of Rocky Hill road.

TO THE LADY WHO MANAGES THE HOME

On June 1st our government says we are to make only one delivery a day to a home. This is done to save gasoline and tires so we can win this war. From my long experience in doing business with the real home manager, I know she will cooperate with our government 100 percent. She is already trained for this emergency, because every time a National holiday comes on the calendar she has to order her family supplies for two full days. Now in this emergency, to help her government, all she has to do is to order her food supplies one day in advance. In plain English—"BUY TODAY FOR TO-MORROW."

REMINDER! Be sure to use your No. 1 Sugar Stamp on or before Saturday, May 16th.

BALLARDVALE

Committal service for Dr. William Shaw will be held Saturday at 2:30 in Spring Grove cemetery. Dr. Shaw, a former resident of Ballardvale and known to many in the capacity of treasurer and general secretary of the International Christian Endeavor Society, died last December in Santa Monica, Calif., where he had resided since his retirement from active service.

Rev. David I. Segestrom will conduct the service and will be assisted by Rev. Stanley B. Vander-soll, general secretary of the World Christian Endeavor Union and Dr. Enock F. Bell of the American board, Boston.

It is expected that many who knew Dr. Shaw and admired his work, will attend.

P. T. A. Nominates

At a P. T. A. meeting last Thursday evening, the following officers were nominated for next season: Mrs. James Schofield, president; Mrs. Lionel Buckley, first vice-president; Miss Jane Fitzhenry, second vice-president; Miss Mary Collins, recording secretary; Mrs. Foster Matthews, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Stermey Cormey, treasurer; and Mrs. Ralph Sharpe, historian.

Dr. William Emmons gave an interesting talk on the structure and peculiarities of the human eye. He emphasized the need for care of the eyes, and told of the work being done in this line in the Andover schools.

Miss Fitzhenry's room won the attendance banner, and Mrs. Foster Matthews the mystery chain.

Christian Endeavor Notes

An enjoyable evening was spent Sunday when the Vale Christian Endeavor entertained the members of the South church C. E. The speaker of the evening was Dr. William Reese of Andover. A social hour followed.

Next Sunday, the members will travel to the Salem street Primitive Methodist church for a mass meeting at 3:00.

Friendly Guild

The Friendly Guild will meet this evening in the parsonage, with Mrs. David Segerstrom as hostess. It is urged that all members be present, as future plans will be discussed.

Demonstration Held

The members of the Methodist Women's League for Christian Service held a public meeting and demonstration in the church vestry Wednesday evening.

Personals

Edward Thompson of the navy visited relatives in Ballardvale recently.

Mrs. Mary Haggerty of Clark road has returned from a visit in Winchester.

Miss Shirley Brown is convalescing at her home on Andover street.

Mrs. Ralph Greenwood, Sr., of Tewksbury street is visiting in Dover.

LEGION COUNCIL MEETING

The county council of the American Legion will meet Sunday at the Newburyport city hall. All local Legionnaires are invited to attend in uniform, as a memorial service will be held after the meeting under the auspices of the county 40 and 8 society.

V. F. W. Post Will Present Comfort Kits To Selectees

Andover Post 2128, Veterans of Foreign Wars, inaugurated last Saturday a new policy of presenting comfort kits, containing candy and cigarettes, to each group of selectees leaving Andover for induction stations. Previously, kits had been sent by mail only to boys already in service. Representatives of the post plan to remember personally each Andover inductee leaving in the future.

Several pieces of mail were recently returned to the post with the advice that mail to Corregidor had been suspended. Among those for whom that mail was intended was George Burridge, reported missing early this week.

Typical of the replies the post has had from recipients of its comfort kits is a letter from Charles Evans, at present stationed at Kessler Field, Biloxi, Miss., reading in part: "I must say, too, that my buddies also commented on the consideration shown by your post to us in the service. I thank you very much, and hope that the other Andover boys derived as much pleasure from it as I have."

Sunday afternoon, June 14, Flag Day exercises will be held in the public park, sponsored by a V. F. W. committee including Robert V. Deyemond, chairman, Thomas L. Raidy and Walter Ebersbach.

have to be so arranged as not to interfere with the repairs and cleaning which take place in the schools in summer.

The Guy Palmerton Players have appeared with considerable success in Fitchburg during the past four or five summers, and specialize in recent Broadway plays. The probability that people will not be able to travel considerable distances to see plays this season, due to the various shortages, is believed to have occasioned this tentative plan to have a traveling company put on plays in several localities which have never before played host to a professional company.

Possibly, the plays would be presented here one or two night a week, with a top admission price of $1.10.

Telephones rationed too?

NOT RATIONED, exactly, but the new order of the War Production Board may result in some restriction of telephone service.

Neither the War Production Board nor the Telephone Company wants to restrict telephone service, but telephone plant requires rubber, copper, lead, zinc, tin, aluminum, and other metals. These days, every pound of copper and every ton of steel available is being diverted to the war job.

Copper, for example, goes into the wiring system of every bomber, fighter plane, cruiser, destroyer, submarine. It also goes into shells and cartridges. It is more useful there, to you and to the Country, than it would be in telephone cables for any but the most essential needs. These essential needs, including those of the Army and Navy, of war industries and of Civilian Defense, of Public Health and Safety, are being fully met and will continue to be.

How will it affect you? Perhaps not at all, perhaps to a great extent. Extension telephones, for example, can no longer be installed except in a few essential cases. If you move, you may not be able to have telephone service or, if service is available, it may be on a line shared with neighbors.

So, if you learn through our local Business Office that it is impossible to give you the service you want, we hope you will know that our regrets are sincere, and that every pound of copper saved will help speed Victory.

While telephone service may not be available to all who want it, that is something that neither the Government nor the Telephone Company can help. Your co-operation with us and with your neighbors will help to keep service available to as many people as possible.

BALLARDVALE

Committal service for Dr. William Shaw will be held Saturday at 2:30 in Spring Grove cemetery. Dr. Shaw, a former resident of Ballardvale and known to many in the capacity of treasurer and general secretary of the International Christian Endeavor Society, died last December in Santa Monica, Calif., where he had resided since his retirement from active service.

Rev. David I. Segestrom will conduct the service and will be assisted by Rev. Stanley B. Vander-sol, general secretary of the World Christian Endeavor Union and Dr. Enock F. Bell of the American board, Boston.

It is expected that many who knew Dr. Shaw and admired his work, will attend.

P. T. A. Nominates

At a P. T. A. meeting last Thursday evening, the following officers were nominated for next season: Mrs. James Schofield, president; Mrs. Lionel Buckley, first vice-president; Miss Jane Fitzhenry, second vice-president; Miss Mary Collins, recording secretary; Mrs. Foster Matthews, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sterney Corney, treasurer; and Mrs. Ralph Sharpe, historian.

Dr. William Emmons gave an interesting talk on the structure and peculiarities of the human eye. He emphasized the need for care of the eyes, and told of the work being done in this line in the Andover schools.

Miss Fitzhenry's room won the attendance banner, and Mrs. Foster Matthews the mystery chain.

Christian Endeavor Notes

An enjoyable evening was spent Sunday when the Vale Christian Endeavor entertained the members of the South church C. E. The speaker of the evening was Dr. William Reese of Andover. A social hour followed.

Next Sunday, the members will travel to the Salem street Primitive Methodist church for a mass meeting at 3:00.

Friendly Guild

The Friendly Guild will meet this evening in the parsonage, with Mrs. David Segerstrom as hostess. It is urged that all members be present, as future plans will be discussed.

Demonstration Held

The members of the Methodist Women's League for Christian Service held a public meeting and demonstration in the church vestry Wednesday evening.

Personals

Edward Thompson of the navy visited relatives in Ballardvale recently.

Mrs. Mary Haggerty of Clark road has returned from a visit in Winchester.

Miss Shirley Brown is convalescing at her home on Andover street.

Mrs. Ralph Greenwood, Sr., of Tewksbury street is visiting in Dover.

LEGION COUNCIL MEETING

The county council of the American Legion will meet Sunday at the Newburyport city hall. All local Legionnaires are invited to attend in uniform, as a memorial service will be held after the meeting under the auspices of the county 40 and 8 society.

through Z are expected to register today.

The total registration figures so far: Previously registered in Superintendent's office: A, 5; B-1, 3; B-2, 4; B-3, 24; X, 6; total, 42.

Shawsheen School: A, 155; B-1, 79; B-2, 95; B-3, 340; X, 66; total, 735.

Stowe School: A, 493; B-1, 160; B-2, 176; B-3, 602; X, 179; total, 1610.

Final figures on the sugar rationing show that 101 percent of Andover's 1940 population registered for sugar rationing last week, the extra one percent being due to a large number of students over 18 years of age at the town's private schools. They were: Phillips Academy, 125; St. Francis' Seraphic Seminary, 70; Abbot Academy, 35; for a total of 230.

During the four-day registration period, applications were filed for 11,318 persons, and 11,023 books were issued. The complete breakdown of the figures: registered previously to opening hours, 444 applications, 442 books issued; Pynchard high school, 4062 and 3943; Shawsheen school, 2110 and 2050; Stowe school, 1639 and 1504; Bradlee school, 1088 and 1079; Indian Ridge, 763 and 755; West Center, 932 and 888; North, 280 and 272.

DEATHS

John Franklin, well-known local civil engineer associated with the building of Shawsheen Village and West Parish cemetery, died early Sunday morning at his home at 5 Woodland road.

The son of Judge George T. Franklin and Abby J. Franklin, he was born June 18, 1867, in Ovid, N. Y. He prepared for Cornell University, but, due to the sudden death of his father, was unable to attend. Instead, he took courses in civil engineering and higher mathematics at home under the direction of Prof. Morris J. Cornell. At one time, he studied real estate law for a year in his brother's office, but later decided to devote his life to civil engineering.

His first position was in railroad engineering on the Lehigh Valley railroad. In 1892, he was appointed assistant city engineer of Johnstown, Pa. He laid out the Cedar Park cemetery in Hudson, N. Y., and later became city engineer at Hudson.

In 1899, he bought the civil engineering practice of Ivar Sjostrom of Lawrence. He designed the layout of West Parish cemetery, making all plans for it and designing the stone bridge and landscaping. His most famous project, perhaps, was the planning and laying out of Shawsheen Village for the late William M. Wood. He was chief engineer for the American Woolen Company for many years.

Besides his life-long interest in his profession, Mr. Franklin was a man of well-developed literary tastes, and was interested in all branches of science and history. He was married in 1895 to Harriet C. Wilson of Ovid, N. Y., and was a member and former deacon of South Church.

Surviving him are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. William P. Foster of Andover, and Mrs. William P. Lowell, Jr., of Newburyport; and four grandchildren, Phillips, Marjorie, and John Foster, and Virginia and Harry Lowell.

The funeral was held from the late home at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, with services conducted by Rev. Frederick B. Noss, minister at South church. Mrs. Albert Curtis was soloist at the services, accompanied by Mrs. Frederick C. Smith. Committal services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Noss at the family lot in West Parish cemetery, where interment took place.

The bearers were T. Edwin Andrews, Robert V. Deyermund, Gordon R. Cannon, Bradford Davis, Francis H. Foster and William Lowell, Jr.

For many years the proprietor of a variety store on Essex street, Fred O. Brackett, 71, of 1 Main street terrace, died at his home Thursday night after a long illness.

TOWNSMAN, May 14, 1942

Surviving him are his wife, Jessie (Cuthill) Brackett; two sons, Harold of this town, and Pvt. George W. Brackett of Fort Bragg, N. C.; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted in Newmarket, N. H., at 2:00 Sunday afternoon, and interment was in the Newmarket cemetery.

***

A former resident here, Mrs. Sarah Henninger, 75, died Monday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Irene Murchison, of 165 Crescent avenue, Beachmont. A native of Parishville, N. Y., she was the widow of George Henninger.

The funeral was held from the Crescent avenue home this afternoon at 2:00, and burial was in the family lot in Glenwood cemetery, Maynard.

IN MEMORIAM

When, some twenty years ago, I was introduced to John Franklin, I found myself in the presence of one who had reached not only a high level of efficiency as a civil engineer but also a man of deep and profound thought—a man who outside his chosen task, found time to ponder with keen zest those fundamental principles that underlie all our rational processes, "Who am I, whence am I and whither is my goal?" These questions he loved to ponder. They furnished the sole theme of our conversations. While not neglectful of the study demanded by his profession he nevertheless overleaped this professional enclosure, and wandered far afield in the domain of biology, philosophy, psychology and theology. In these fields we never lacked material for conversation.

It was this intellectual side of Mr. Franklin, suspected by few of our townspeople, that knit my soul to his soul in a lasting and grateful friendship.

GEORGE B. FROST
